

PROF. MARCUSE:

GERMANY, 1900-1945

UCSB HIST 133B
WINTER 2019

A. Paul Weber, "German Fate"

Illustration for the book Hitler: Germany's Ruin
by Ernst Niekisch (1932)

first published in the magazine Widerstand [Resistance] (1931)

UCSB Hist 133B, Winter 2019, Prof. Marcuse

Germany, 1900-1945

Reader Table of Contents

Week
3	David Engel, "1933-41: A Twisted Road?" in: idem, The Holocaust: The Third Reich and the Jews (Longman, 2000), 26-37	1
6a	Michael Burleigh, "Selling Murder: The Killing Films of the Third Reich," in: idem, Death and Deliverance: 'Euthanasia' in Germany, c. 1900-1945 (New York: Cambridge Univ. Press, 1994), pp. 183-219, notes 329-332.....	6
	Gerald Markle "Doctors, Eugenics & the Holocaust," in: Meditations of a Holocaust Traveler (Albany: SUNY, 1995), 108-127.	29
6b	Franz Brüggemeier, Marc Cioc and Thomas Zeller (eds.), "Introduction," in: B./C./Z. (eds.), How Green Were the Nazis? Nature, Environment, and Nation in the Third Reich (Athens: Ohio Univ. Press, 2005), 1-17.	39
	Gesine Gerhard, "Breeding Pigs and People for the Third Reich: Richard Walther Darré's Agrarian Ideology," in: How Green were the Nazis? pp. 129-146	49
7	Saul Friedländer "The Onslaught," in: Nazi Germany and the Jews (New York: HarperCollins, 1997), 269-305 & notes 386-392	71
8	Hannibal Travis, "Did the Armenian Genocide Inspire Hitler?" in: Middle East Quarterly 20:1(2013), 27–36.....	94
9	Laurence Rees, "Factories of Death," in: idem, Auschwitz: A New History (New York: Public Affairs, 2005), 109-164.	97
10	Susan Sontag, "Fascinating Fascism," from: New York Review of Books (Feb. 1975)	127
	Last page	138